HeissNo.Nope.Keep looking.The book you want is Scary Stories to Tell in the Dark by Alvin Schwarz.This book was written by a person with a poor command of English and no rhythm At All."Every sense" instead of ever since"He liked to shot them" instead of he liked to shoot themHe liked to spat at themFlem? No, phlegmThose whom? Those whoWonder back? Wander backApatite? AppetiteWhom whom whom whom whom. Stop it!Great illustrations, though.

From the creator of The Secret Files of Jest R. Wicked, Terrible Things and Skeptoids The Secret of the Gypsy Queen comes 13 Dreadful Things Not to Tell Children in the Dark a collection of macabre childrens illustrations and poems based on plays on words and backwards ideas. With a hint of the playfully dark, 13 Dreadful Things not to Tell Children in the Dark is a picture book for both children and adults alike.
