The President of the United States of America. It has to be one of the hardest jobs in the world. You're under never ending pressure, you get blamed for everything, people hate your guts no matter what you do, and to top it all off, it ages you faster than meth. What kind of person would want a job like that? I'll tell you who, a jerk. The U.S. of A. has had 45 presidents so far in its history, and all have had one thing in common. They've all been jerks. This satirical book is not here to tell you about the great things that each of the presidents did. No, it's here to make you question how these people ever got to be leaders, and more importantly, what the hell is wrong with us for electing them. Enjoy.
