The Good, the Great, the MediocreBy Stephen G KennedySo bad it's great and so great it's silly and so silly it's not always great...In other words, you'll find some wonderful material mixed in with the dumbest jokes ever, next to the mediocre, placed with the worst, and then some tremendous stuff.Don't worry, it's more than worth it! It's like Henny Youngman and Milton Berle crashed their golf carts and they told 5,000 jokes on the way to the 19th hole -- you might not laugh at all of them, but you don't want to miss any of them just in case...0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Funny book but but too risqué for my tween.By William MottoleseMost of these one-liners are side-splitting but some are way too inappropriate for my wise wise-guy middle-schooler. Funny book but not for 12 year-olds.

“I’ll never forget the words my granddad said before he kicked the bucket. He said ‘Grandson, watch how far I can kick this bucket.’”“The key to any marriage is spontaneity. You’ve got to be ready to leave at any time.”Bringing together some of the funniest, wittiest, and most cutting jokes the world over, Grant Tucker’s volume is the definitive collection of the quips comedians call “one-liners.” Short, sweet, and undeniably clever, one-liners hold a special place in the history of comedy, and the rise of Twitter and social media seems to have ushered in a new era of this comedic art form. With most people expressing themselves in 140 characters or less, there seems no better time to celebrate Grant’s collection and the immortal one-liner.Side-splittingly funny, 5,000 Sidesplitting Jokes and One-Liners has all the puns, zingers, and witty remarks you could ever ask for—and many you’d never dream of asking for. “My granddad has the heart of a lion and a lifetime ban from the zoo.”“A dyslexic man walks into a bra.”“Corduroy pillows: they’re making headlines!”“Promises are a bit like babies: fun to make but hard to deliver.”“Schizophrenia—together I can beat it.”“Drugs are never the answer. Unless the clue is: ‘Narcotics, five letters.’”

About the Author Grant Tucker is the author of many books, including 5,000 Sidesplitting Jokes and One-Liners and The Margaret Thatcher Book of Quotations. He is a former Coleg Gwent student and works as an assistant PA to LBC radio presenter and publisher Iain Dale in London, England.
