Justin Racz, Alec Brownstein : 50 Days Worse Than Yours before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised 50 Days Worse Than Yours:

I quickly browsed throught it (after all, it's only 50 pages or so) and had a good chuckle. I wrote the name of the book down so I could order it through . I ordered two copies; one for my son in Chicago and one for my daughter in Berkeley, CA. They are both single, in their 20's, but at different points in their journeys. I sent these to them to remind them that things could be worse than the day with all its minor tribulations that might be troubling them. Keeps the whining down to a minimum. lol0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. review on books "50 " Days, Jobs, Relatives..all of themBy Patricia BakerI laughed out loud when I came to relatives when I could see mine being described to a T. And, that goes for all the books under this genre.I share them and find others get a kick out of these books too.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Funny BookBy nomdeplumeVery funny book, but my favorite is 50 Relatives Worse Than Your Own. That one is hilarious! This is funny, too.

We've all had bad days: lost our keys, broken a nail, missed a train. Some days, however, are much worse than others, as Justin Racz proves in this hilarious new addition to the smash hit Worse Than Yours series. Collecting fifty of the most memorable "bad days," this outrageous book catalogs everything from the daily ("First gray hair noticed") to the legendary ("Eve eats apple"), from the public ("New York City sanitation strike") to the painfully private ("Ricky gets atomic wedgie, 1976"). An inspired and fully illustrated testament to schadenfreude, 50 Days Worse than Yours proves that nothing is as universal as suffering. Whether you're a kid ("Picked last in gym-again"), a new parent ("Barney invented"), or facing down middle age ("AARP card arrives"), you can be sure to find some comfort in this riotous compilation of things gone wrong. After all, it could have been much, much worse... Justin Racz is the author of 50 Boyfriends Worse Than Yours, 50 Relatives Worse Than Yours, 50 Jobs Worse Than Yours and J.Crewd. He is an advertising copywriter and lives in New York City. Alec Brownstein is a film director and advertising copywriter.
