I'm one of those people who goes stir crazy if forced to sit doing nothing for any period of time. I carry crossword puzzles, word searches and magazines on planes. I have highlighted many of the activities in this book in anticipation of a very long trip, 17 hours. My friend and I will cast ourselves, along with other passengers in a soap opera, they will not know about it! I'm going to start a novel, write poetry (with no skills!), figure out what I'd buy if I won the lottery, create a new identity, do any of the games in the book and so on. If you are a creative type of person. I think you'll enjoy this book. Also, if you have children, there are many activities which would help them while away the time. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. NOT appropriate for young adults or children By ARFNOT appropriate for young adults or children. I bought this for my teenage niece for a long plane ride. The gift didn't get off the ground. Besides lots of fun things she would've enjoyed reading, there was the suggestion to "join the mile-high club" among some other really inappropriate things. Disappointed. Waste of money for me. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Entertaining book By Kerissa Poulson I gave this book to my boyfriend, he has a traveling internship this summer. I wrote notes for inside jokes, made a good laugh. The puzzles actually look like fun to do. love it

Sleep, read or watch a movie. Not much to do on a plane. Or is there? Air travel boredom will become obsolete with this entertaining guide. Keep yourself busy during the long wait at the airport and the cruise through the skies. Rather than just wait in security checks' long lines or suffer onboard through the latest child-friendly movie, readers can actually do something! Anything! Everything they could possibly dream of has been included for their viewing and pleasure. Make the flight the best part of your holiday. No more counting peanuts, incessant tapping of feet, or drooling on that tiny pillow. The boredom stops here, here, and here.
