Webster Bull : A Bad Boy from Beacon Street before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised A Bad Boy from Beacon Street:

1 of 2 people found the following review helpful. All the landmarks of Boston...By B. CarusoThis is a beautifully illustrated and fun book that takes the reader through Boston(and vicinity) landmarks with witty limericks.Definitely a book geared for an older child (over 5) as the illustrations and limericks are rather detailes and did not catch the attention of my little guy when we got it (he was 2 when we got our copy from a relative near Boston)...It is though a must-have for the library of any child, of any age (because eventually they will be old enough to really enjoy it) with any connection to Boston (for us it's where our son was born and we lived for his first couple of years...His grandparents still live near Boston.)

There are giggles for all ages in this beautifully illustrated book of limericks about Boston's favorite places and themes.

About the Author Jacqueline is a professional illustrator. She lives in a former church nestled in the Litchfield Hills of Connecticut with her handsome husband, speedy son, and twenty-one-pound cat. When she's not painting, she can be found digging in the garden with her son and his prize steam shovel, Mary Anne.
