Why then are we subjected to having a great like Shel having to share these pages with poetry that reads like it was written by children, not for children. The chief perpetrator of painful (to read) poetry is the editor himself, who should have know better than to insert his amateurish efforts into this collection. If you want to read Shel Silverstein, buy his collections. I can think of no reason to buy this pastiche of real children's poetry books. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five Stars By Brittany Fuller A great read a loud book to introduce a new topic or concept! 8 of 9 people found the following review helpful. My hate-to-read son is reading this book! By Renee Kohl Abugov Wow! My oldest (and loves to read) son borrowed this from the library and read them all the way to school to us in the car! We loved them! Now my youngest (and hates to read) borrowed the book as well and spends the drive reading his favorite poems to us! We all enjoy them!

A hilarious anthology features works by Shel Silverstein, Jack Prelutsky, Judith Viorst, Jeffrey Moss, and others, and is packed with poems about stinky feet, burps, greasy-grimy-gopher-guts, and other favorite topics. Tour.

About the Author Bruce Lansky has edited a number of poetry anthologies (including Rolling in the Aisles, Kids Pick the Funniest Poems, If Kids Ruled the School, A Bad Case of the Giggles, Miles of Smiles, and No More Homework! No More Tests!), and 3 silly songbook anthologies. Lansky created the popular GigglePoetry.com website for children and the PoetryTeachers.com website for teachers. He also created the Girls to the Rescue series, the New Fangled Fairy Tales series, and the Can You Solve the Mysteries series.
