Ben Dupree : A Bit of Smoke before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised A Bit of Smoke:

Once again, Ben Dupree, author of A Dying Way of Life, digs deep into his old hunting bag and retrieves his notebook to share with us his thoughts, memories, and meditations on life in the North Louisiana woods, ways, and waters. His love for the outdoors, his love for family, and his love for God are plaited together in an unbreakable yarn that weaves through his latest collection of short stories, essays and devotions. As he pulls back the curtain on family and faith, the readers of his first book will delight in more stories from his world. Get ready to enjoy.

About the AuthorAn avid outdoorsman, Ben was raised in the piney hills and cypress swamps of North Louisiana. Even though a medical condition brought about an early exit from the public school classroom, he still invokes his love for storytelling as a youth minister in his home church. He and his wife, Kristin, and sons, Reagan and Michael, split their time between their home in Goldonna, Louisiana, and their camp on nearby Black Lake.
