Henry Beard : A Cat's Night Before Christmas before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised A Cat's Night Before Christmas:

Five Stars By John Burton Nice book 6 of 6 people found the following review helpful. -----Hilarious-----By Judith Miller This amusing little book is written from a cat's point of view and gives us another look of how a cat might think. Starting with the very first line "Tis the night before Christmas, and all through the house, Not a creature was stirring--I'd killed the last mouse." Well, you get the idea! The colorful illustrations are great and wait until you see Santa and his crew. Don't want to give anything else away, if you're a cat lover, you'll get a good laugh from this old, but new Christmas story. The author, Henry Beard founded National Lampoon magazine. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Very Funny - For Cat Lovers Only By Carolyn This little book is a gem. The parody of Clement Moore's poem is very clever and funny - if you're a cat person. The illustrations are the icing on the cake!

A hilarious retelling of Clement C. Moore's classic poem, "'Twas the Night before Christmas" from the point of view of the family cat.
