The images are so beautiful and the words, inspirational. I purchased two more as gifts,simply a great idea.

Let peace and contentment flow over you as you channel your inner artist with A Coloring Book Based on A Course in Miracles. Embark on a spiritual journey with original artwork by renowned artist Andrea Smith. Each page is filled with whimsical cherubs, indigenous beauties, and magical landscapes that, while paired with insightful lessons from the original A Course in Miracles, draw you into a serene meditation as you color. The universal teachings of love and harmony that have been inspiring readers for over fifty years are perfectly paired with Andrea's artistic message of world peace, a message she has been spreading through her artwork since the early 1980s. While the original lessons have basis in traditional Christianity, Andrea's drawings express a nonsecular, nondenominational mysticism that appeals to any person who is on a soul searcher's journey. So pick out your colored pencils or markers, and enjoy the voyage.

About the Author Andrea Smith--world peace artist, philosopher, and peace activator was born and raised in Detroit, Michigan, later graduating from Wayne State University with a Bachelor of Arts degree. Often referred to as a painter of the spirit, she creates her colorful pieces in an unusual outdoor studio where the natural sunlight permeates into everything she paints, while working with a myriad of mediums such as acrylics, pastels, and watercolors. Her paintings and sculptures have been internationally exhibited over the past fifty years in such countries as Japan, Indonesia, Egypt, throughout Europe, as well as across the United States. Collectors of Andrea's work range from presidents to dignitaries to everyday art enthusiasts, and she enjoys lecturing and administering her painting workshops for her fans around the globe. She opened her own gallery in 2001, in the high desert community of Sedona, Arizona, and has resided there since 2008. The gallery features her paintings as well as sculptures from her travels around the world.
