I gave it to my mother for Mother's Day (ok, so I read it cover to cover before wrapping it up!) and we still joke about feeding my toddlers on the white couch. I'm also told that my father began to read it too, but had to stop because he was in actual pain from laughing so hard.Two sticky, marker-stained thumbs up!5 of 5 people found the following review helpful. I loved it!By JosephMy husband bought me this book while he was gone with the military because he thought it would cheer me up. I have to say, he nailed it on the head. With four young children and expecting number 5, I laughed for about an hour straight. (after the kids were in bed while eating chocolate of course). I loved it!4 of 4 people found the following review helpful. Hilarious!By S. LozanoThis book is just hilarious...start to finish! I bought it to give to my daughter and son in law after a co-worker brought it to the office, and all of us were in tears with laughter when we were reading it!

Imagine a world where pregnant women are always upbeat and glowing, newborns sleep on cue, toddlers love to have their teeth brushed, and teenagers gaze adoringly at their parents. Impossible, you say? Not according to advertisers who flood the web with stock photos of perfect parents and children. They'd have you believe that parenting is a piece of cake, and every significant moment of family life takes place on a spotless white couch. So when Sara Given, a real mother of a real toddler, saw a picture of a radiant new mother in a cute little sundress breastfeeding her newborn in the middle of a golf course, she finally had enough. She launched a Tumblr, which is now visited by tens of thousands of new parents looking for a daily pick-me-up. Because what better way is there to deal with the stress and strain of being a new parent than laughter? The perfect gift of cheer and solidarity, Parenting Is Easy exploits the disconnect between these preposterous photos and what happens in real life, and makes every reader laugh out loud—and feel better, too, because we’re in on the joke.
