Lists many different types of coloring patterns there are and includes one or two illustrations of each.She also describes what each pattern are about. Also included is a tester page in the beginning where you can decide what you want to color with. Pencil, Crayon, water color, etc. Found the paper to be ok. Although if you use markers I would recommend a cardboard or thick stack of scratch paper so it won't bleed.I found it very soothing and easy on the eyes. Perfect book to de-stress with. As I am a full time caregiver for my grandmother and uncle, I need all the help I can get.

There is nothing more relaxing or inspiring than art. Catherine Davis understands that art can draw you in and spark amazing creativity. With her new adult colouring book, Passion for Patterns, she helps your creative side blossom. Catherine Davis, an artist and designer based in England, has extensive experience creating products like housewares, luggage, nursery items, and more. She brings her fine-tuned sense of beauty to her new activity book. Passion for Patterns isn't just a colouring book—it is also a delightful exploration some of the most iconic designs and patterns in our world. For example, Davis provides beautiful art deco patterns while also explaining the basic features and history of the design. She includes styles like pop art, Islamic, arabesque, damask, and art nouveau. Have fun colouring in paisley, patchwork, geometric, and floral patterns. The designs will encourage you to develop your own unique style and sense of color! Each page will teach you something new, but more importantly, it will also relax you. The simple act of creating something colourful and delightful will offer some welcome relief from stress at the end of your busy day!
