Kimberly Herzog : Postpartum Terror before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Postpartum Terror:

To think a first time published author could attract so much attention and enthusiasm. This book is brilliantly written and challenges the reader to search within themselves. The authors comedic wit and insight helps parents, or those who want to be, to better understand the feelings which can sometimes overcome, (oneself), and cause "terror" when raising a child. I think this book is well laid out and easy to read and appreciate. Rumor has it that the author is soon to publish a childrens book as well. I highly recommend ordering this book and any other books by Kimberly Herzog.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Kim's bookBy Marilyn ChapmanI thoroughly enjoyed reading this book. If you are a mother-to-be,a new mom or a grandmother as I am,you will love it. It not only made me laugh,it was like a little trip down memory lane for me ,one that had me reaching for my kleenex to dab a tear or two away. I wish I had read a book like this all those years ago when I was a young mom. I suggest this book as a great holiday gift idea for all(even stay at home dads!)0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Funny and humanBy Susan M. HerzogThis was a funny and moving view for all mothers and grandmothers . There are so many incidents that we all can relate to and have surely thought of in the years of raising our children----and they all survived it. Really worth reading, for everyone, even the dads!!

Book by Herzog, Kimberly

From the Inside FlapHave you ever... —tried to calculate the possible trajectory on a broken ceiling fan blade? —considered starting a trust fund for therapy for your child in case they end up needing it? Did you put college tuition as the default beneficiary? —worried that you would come home to find a Bates Motel sign flashing in your front yard? —wondered if spontaneous combustion can really happen? If so, this one is for you. It goes out to all of the moms and dads out there, whether you are on your first child or your sixth grandchild. It is a little something to make you laugh at yourself so that you don't cry. Here is a bit of reassurance that you are not alone in your fears for your children—not alone with the real fears, and not alone with the over the top, middle of the night imagined ones either. So kick back, relax (as best you can with one parental ear on high alert for your child) and have a good laugh at my expense. I know I did as I wrote it.
