BLACK WHITE EDITION. Whether you're a conservative parent wanting to instill those values into your children, a Christian wanting to preserve your 1st Amendment rights to worship freely, or a hater of this politically correct, walk-on-eggshells society that we've somehow become, this book is for you. This is what conversation was like when people used to sit on the front porch swing and "visit" for a while. In my big Italian family, that conversation happened around the kitchen table, pointing out the craziness going on around the world and even in our own little town world. It was common sense passed from one generation to the next. "Ramblings" takes an honest look at the issues of our day and calls them what they are, mixing in a little sarcasm (and sometimes a lot!) along the way. It's a light, easy read with relevant recent events. If you're looking for political correctness, don't bother buying. Joe tackles everything from racism to religion, to media bias, to safe spaces, and, yes, even women's issues! If you're not supposed to talk about it in polite circles, you'll likely find it in this book. Sit back and enjoy the ride!

About the Author Every day loyal listeners spanning the entire United States and 38 countries tune in to hear current news stories that are rarely heard through other news outlets. Why? You know all those topics that no one wants to talk about? And old, white guys definitely aren't supposed to talk about? Well, that's Joe's comfort zone! Yes, all those politically incorrect topics... every social issue, religion, LGBTQ (yes, there's a Q... and MORE!), abortion, traditional family, gay marriage, education, the war on women, the war on religion, the war on Christianity (and pretty much any other war that the Left wants to fabricate!) and, of course, politics. Joe Messina is decidedly conservative and an outspoken Bible-believing, Christian. Yet his guests will tell you, the conversation is always respectful, even when they're on completely different sides of the issue. For Joe, it's all about having the conversation so that you know what "the other side" thinks. Practicing what he preaches, Joe is actively engaged in his local community and church, and is very involved in politics. Having the reputation of being a man of integrity and ethics, he is regularly asked to teach business ethics for various organizations. Joe's goal for the show (and now a book!)... Make sure that anyone listening can understand the conversation and walk away with new and useful information using clear simple English. No political speak. No double talk. Just REAL facts... REAL words... REAL conversation. Stop by and say hello at: www.TheRealSide.com
