The beautiful description of Yorkshire, the simple yet lifelike characterisation of not only the humans but even the animals in each chapter and the essential warmth of the author himself shines through each incident narrated with a dry humour that cannot be matched 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Lovely stories for a historic time in Britain. By Page Burt Beautifully written, accurate medicine for the time in which it was done. Classic, unforgettable. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful.

Amazing Book By Cecelia Love love love this whole series! I can't say enough about it. I have enjoyed reading and re-reading this series for several years and there is just nothing like it. Great stories of a Vet's life in the olden days of England. Colorful descriptions and comedic and gripping writing. I would suggest this book for anyone looking for a chuckle or aspiring veterinarians... like me!!

A few months of married bliss, a lovers' nest in Darrowby and the wonders of home cooking are rudely interrupted for James Herriot by the Second World War. James Herriot's fifth volume of memoirs relocates him to a training camp somewhere in England. And in between square pounding and digging for victory, he dreams of the people and livestock he left behind him. 'There are funny cases, sad cases, farm animals and pets, downright farmers, ladies of refinement, hard-bitten NCOs and of course, the immortal Siegfried and Tristan' - "The Sunday Times". 'Another winner...as always hilariously funny' - "The Sunday Telegraph". 'It is a pleasure to be in James Herriot's company' - "Observer".

About the Author James Herriot grew up in Glasgow and qualified as a veterinary surgeon at Glasgow Veterinary College. Shortly afterwards he took up a position as an assistant in a North Yorkshire practice where he has remained, with the exception of his wartime service in the RAF. He is married with a son who is also a veterinary surgeon and a daughter who is a doctor. From AudioFile It's WWII, and James Herriot has left Yorkshire to join the RAF. His stories about life in boot camp are interspersed with related anecdotes from his previous veterinary practice. Christopher Timothy is an excellent narrator and a familiar voice to those who have enjoyed "All Creatures Great and Small" on public television. His descriptions of the places and people bring both into sharp focus. The stories are humorous, touching and sometimes sad, but even if you've never been to Yorkshire, Timothy makes it easy to imagine the scenery, weather and country folk. D.M.W.
