Wendy Reid Crisp, author of the spirited declaration-of-independence 100 Things I'm Not Going to Do Now That I'm Over 50, turns her gimlet eye to the next watershed age for boomers: turning 60. She celebrates sixty as an age of independence-the independence to love, support, respect, accept, and forgive ourselves and others. In her wry, inimitable style, Crisp explores the fun, invaluable life-lessons sixty-somethings need to know-because sixty has never been like this!

About the Author Wendy Reid Crisp is the author of five books. For her writings on behalf of women and children, she has been awarded an honorary doctorate of letters from Middlebury College, Vermont. She is an active volunteer and member of the board of directors of several California-based not-for-profit organizations.
