The Junior Doctor is back! He's into his 2nd year of medicine, but this time Max is out of the wards onto the streets, working for the Phoenix Outreach Project. Fuelled by tea enthusiasm, he attempts to locate treat a wide colourful range of patients that somehow his first year on the wards didn't prepare him for.

Pemberton treats a grim subject with warmth and self-deprecating good humour . . . equally enlightening sequel. ****
