If you liked reading about Rancid Crabtree and Retch Sweeney, you will love Jackass Jill's stories. In addition to the humor and even some useful facts about life in the wilderness, these stories are sprinkled with insights into human nature. If you are ready to take a break from the thrillers and killers and read something fun and different, this is where you should start. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. The spirit of adventure at its best. By John You will love the antics from the Donkey's and Jill's amazing adventures into some of the most remote places on the this good earth. Live the stories as you read, you imagine yourself along for the ride. Truly a well written collection of real adventures that keep you turning the pages. What a great career option for an adventurous soul. I enjoyed her stories of life on the trail. If you love donkeys and love a woman who is cutting her own path in the world... be inspired by this book. I bought a second one to gift to a friend.

Tales of mining camps and donkey trails. Jackass Jill explores remote ghost towns and mining camps with her donkey companions. These travel and adventure stories previously published in Gold Prospector and Brayer magazines.

. . . You'll laugh at Jill's misadventures--hard work, dangerous, lucky, unlucky, always fun. --Gold Prospectors Magazine I laughed and I cried, but mostly I laughed. Now I have dreams of tiny donkey hooves dancing in my head. --Bette Waters, Bluwaters Press Tremendous laugh therapy . . . entertaining, well-written, easy to read stories of a hard-scrabble adventurer's way of life . . . --Nora DiVincenzo, Therapist About the Author Laura Leveque aka Jackass Jill is a columnist for Gold Prospectors and Brayer magazines. She's written adventure and travel stories in over a dozen publications. Laura gold mined and treasure hunted in most western states and worked as an underground mine tour guide and donkey pack-string outfitter in Colorado and New Mexico. She lives at Jackass Junction in Deming, New Mexico, with her donkeys, Shaggy and Willy, and dog Soapy.
