Lisa Funari-Willever : You Can't Walk a Fish before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised You Can't Walk a Fish:

The hysterical follow-up to Everybody Moos At Cows, Matthew McFarland is back and this time he wants a dog. Other kids in the neighborhood have dogs and he is sure walking a dog must be the coolest thing in the world. Unfortunately, his father thinks it will be too much work and suggests a fish. Determined to prove his father wrong, Matthew offers to dog sit his neighbor's puppy, Puddles. The only thing more difficult than working with a kid or an animal is a kid working with an animal! Will a week spent with Puddles be everything Matthew wished?
